

Are you supporting someone who has a mental health problem?

Could you advise on mental health research?

FACTOR

Mental Health Research Network

We are looking for carers to give advice to researchers from their experience.

FACTOR - Families/Friends And Carers Together in Research is part of the Mental Health Research Network, which supports large scale research in the NHS. FACTOR is helping to make mental health research more relevant to the needs of relatives, friends and other carers of people using services. For more information go to <http://www.mhrn.info> also the Institute of Psychiatry's website for carers: <http://www.mentalhealthcare.org.uk>

FACTOR involves carers in all stages of mental health research, both in London and all over the country via its eight research hubs. For example, you might edit information sheets or packs produced for service users and carers, or help refine proposals for research from a carer perspective. Why not join us:

- It's rewarding work
- Your time commitment can be as little as three hours per month
- You will be paid
- We provide briefing and support

If you are interested, please contact the FACTOR Coordinator:
geraldine.mason@kcl.ac.uk

FACTOR is based at King's College London

KING'S College
LONDON